Editorial Team's Note

Welcome to the first issue of M.A.P. M.A.P stands for MICE at Putrajaya and the reason to have such name for our bulletin is to put Putrajaya in a map of MICE as well as promote Putrajaya as one of the preferred tourism destinations in Malaysia. Our new bulletin is especially designed for people who might never normally consider picking up business event-related reading materials.

The M.A.P bulletin will be issued quarterly (April, August & December 2018). For this first issue, we want it to be entertaining and informative, at times contrary, but above all useful. Inside you'll find a mixture of news, features and regular columns about all the tourism service providers in Putrajaya.

We hope you enjoy reading this first issue and do let us know if there are any topics you'd like to see covered in the future at map@co-x.com.my

PICCC STAFF SCORES A 2017 ICCA RESEARCHER OF THE YEAR

2017 was a remarkable year for Putrajaya International Convention Centre (PICCC) where our humble yet hardworking Assistant Manager, Researcher, Mr Hairul Hafeedz Bin Esa has named as a Researcher of the Year 2017 by International Congress and Convention Association (ICCA). This is due to his humbly contribution in providing great meetings information to the ICCA's database.

What's more interesting is Mr. Hairul is the first Malaysian and first PICCC staff to earn such recognition by the international body. Before that, he has announced as a Researcher of the Month in March 2017. Thus, this has put Putrajaya International Convention Centre (PICCC) in the ICCA's eyes as one of the great hubs for 3Cs (convention, congress & conference) in the nation.

Mr Hairul stressed the importance of providing data from PICCC to ICCA, "When researching, the process is much smoother and more efficient if all the provided data is accurate and up-to-date. By contributing meeting information on a regular basis we are not only saving our own time, but the valuable time of our clients and our potential local hosts. It helps to better determine whether a particular meeting is a good fit for the destination and allows reliable, consistent knowledge exchange between cities."

He also added by giving tips to fellow ICCA members on how to be an effective researcher.

“ Mr. Hairul is the first Malaysian and first PICCC staff to earn such recognition by ICCA.”

"The opportunities are endless! The database allows you to save and create custom searches that make sense for your destination. You can target based on industry, size and need period. The database is one of our primary researching tools and helps us stay on top of upcoming opportunities so that, if necessary, we can get a head-start in connecting with the right local host organizations."

ICCA in their press release stated that Mr. Hairul is such an inspiration to other ICCA members who are not yet using the database and its update functionality to their fullest potential. His contributions go well beyond the borders of Putrajaya especially PICCC.

He received certificate and €500 (RM2,400) together with the award to be put against any ICCA product or event within 24 months of winning the award.

GREAT BENEFITS OF CHINESE CUISINE

You may already know that Chinese cuisine is delicious, but you might not be aware that it's also one of the healthiest foods you can eat. Most of Chinese dishes are very balanced and provides everything that your body and metabolism needs. At Putrajaya Seafood Restaurant (PSR), you will find such foods that definitely satisfy your taste buds as well as providing the body with quality nutrition.

Unlike other cuisines, Chinese foods is not precious and its staples are available anywhere and make for a healthy, diet-conscious, portion-controlled meal. The following is the 5 benefits pointed out by Chef Choi, Head of Chef PSR, which you can get from Chinese foods:

Healthy Carbohydrates

Carbohydrates provide the body with the energy it needs to get through the day. The body converts them to glycogen, an easily-accessible fuel stored in the liver and muscles. Other sources of fuel, like fat, are inefficient. Chinese meals frequently include healthy sources of carbohydrates, like noodles and rice, helping you stay energized without consuming too many calories.

Nutritional Balance

It's important to incorporate carbohydrates, proteins, and other nutrients into your diet. Carbs provide necessary fuel, while proteins help retain and build muscle mass. That's why Chinese food is an ideal choice. Meals often feature vegetables, noodles or rice, and some form of meat, seafood, or other protein, offering you nutritional balance. With other cuisines, it can be difficult to find a meal that incorporates all these various nutritional elements in one dish.

Fiber

Fiber is another essential nutrient, aiding the body's digestion process. Many people don't get enough, though, because they don't enjoy eating the bland vegetables that provide it. Chinese cuisine, however, is notable for offering many high-fiber meals that are perfectly seasoned and cooked, lending them a more robust taste.

Cooking Options

Fried foods are part of Chinese cuisine, but in many cases, they can also be ordered steamed. For example, most restaurants offer the choice between fried or steamed dumplings. By providing guests with options for how their food is cooked, Chinese restaurants allow them to make healthier choices.

Light Options

Soups and light noodle dishes are very common on Chinese food menus. If you're trying to limit your caloric intake, you'll easily find a tasty option at a Chinese restaurant.

TEP ROARED FOR KL SEA GAMES 2017

2017 was a magnificent year for Taman Ekuestrian Putrajaya (TEP) because Taman Ekuestrian Putrajaya (TEP) has been selected by Malaysia's Ministry of Sports and Youths (KBS) as an official venue of the KL SEA Games 2017 for Polo. This is in-line with what TEP offers; a line-up of top-notch equestrian facilities, services as well as hosting experience that they gained from the recent Malaysian Open Polo Tournament (MOPT).

As for preparation on the technical side, TEP has spent over RM2 million for upgrading works on the polo field. This work is done by a team of experienced local field experts from Satiri Sdn Bhd and they took six months to turf the sprawling field with better state-of-the-art drainage system. Our field has used Hybrid Bermuda grass for the greens which can be maintained at speeds to provide serious players a good test of their polo skills. The grass dries up within half an hour after heavy rain, making maintenance of the greens almost immediate. Malaysian Polo Team has tested this polo field for few times and gave few feedbacks before it can be used for KL SEA Games.

In terms of polo field maintenance, TEP has bought few machineries to ensure our polo field is well-maintained to the highest standard during the event. Apart from polo field, TEP chefs to fulfil the spectators' needs at all level and the meals are served throughout the games. Rallegra will be selling the meals at midrange price, whereas the Kabin is offering has also upgraded its other facilities like stable, pavilion, arena field, paddocks and club house as expectations are high where Malaysia is the defending champion for the previous SEA Games. Hence, first-class treatment is what they are expecting.

To retain the reputation, we have also prepared our Food and Beverages (F&B) team, from food quality to the newly-renovated kitchen. There will be two restaurants; Rallegra and Kabin that are ready to cater approximately 3,000 to 4,000 people daily and most of them are coming from different backgrounds.

Due to that, the team is carefully prepare the meals by our experienced pocket-friendly meals such as 'Nasi Polo' and 'Nasi Campur.'

For this year event, there were four teams competing in KL SEA Games; Malaysia, Brunei, Singapore and Thailand. Each team is allowed to bring up to 24 horses and those horses are high maintenance. What makes the event more interesting this year, our Minister of Youth and Sports, Mr. Khairy Jamaluddin is representing Malaysia in Polo.

According to TEP's Head Mr. Azimin Ibrahim, the entrance for polo game was free as they want to encourage more Malaysians to take up polo and love the sports. During the event, Malaysia managed to retain its gold medal from the previous SEA Games by beating Thailand in a close fought match.
